

Health Sciences Centre

Winnipeg

A Shared Health facility

Clinical Research

We Answer the Call: The many roles that nurse's play in a patient's health-care journey

Clinical Research Nurse

Is a professional member of a research team that participates in clinical research projects involving the administration of, and regulatory compliance of, investigational therapies and interventions while providing excellence in clinical care to a defined group of patients who to volunteer to participate in clinical research projects. The Clinical Research Nurse ensures that the patients' rights, safety, and well-being are protected at all times.